Assessing Public Sector Reform Impacts on Domestic Violence Service Delivery

Beth M. Rauhaus, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of North Georgia

This research applies the theoretical notions of representative bureaucracy and the feminization of poverty to cases of domestic violence involving women to explore how states may adequately address their needs. It further explores how partnerships with non-governmental organizations may meet the needs of vulnerable populations.

Évaluation du Secteur Public et des Effets de la Réforme sur la Prestation des Services
Contre la Violence Domestique

Beth M. Rauhaus, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of North Georgia

Cette recherche applique les notions théoriques de la bureaucratie représentative et la féminisation de la pauvreté aux cas des violences domestiques faites aux femmes afin d'évaluer les initiatives étatiques de réponses aux besoins des victimes. L'étude vise à expliquer les partenariats public-privés et l'action des organisations non-gouvernementales qui forment les réponses publiques aux besoins des populations vulnérables.

Una evaluación de cómo reformas en el sector público afectan la prestación de servicios de la violencia doméstica

Beth M. Rauhaus, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of North Georgia

Esta investigación aplica la teoría de la burocracia representativa y la feminización de la pobreza para examinar cómo estados puedan abordar las necesidades de la mujer en casos de violencia doméstica de manera adecuada y cómo colaboraciones con unidades no-gubernamentales pueden cumplir con las necesidades de poblaciones vulnerables.

Avaliando o Impacto do Setor Público Sobre o Atendimento de Casos de Violência Doméstica

Beth M. Rauhaus, Assistant Professor of Political Science, University of North Georgia

A presente pesquisa aplica as noções teóricas da burocracia representativa e a feminização da pobreza para explorar como o Estado pode atender adequadamente às necessidades de mulheres vítimas da violência doméstica e como parcerias com as ONGs podem atender às necessidades das populações vulneráveis.

公共体制改革对家庭暴力服务的影响

Beth M. Rauhaus, PhD, University of North Georgia, Department of Political Science and International Affairs

本文应用官僚主义和贫困女性化的理论来研究国家如何适当地处理家暴受害妇女的需求，以及如何和非政府组织合作帮助弱势群体。
